

I hereby grant permission to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, through its agents, employees, third parties or designated representatives, to digitize and stream over the Internet as part of the "MIT World" project (described below) videotapes of myself and/or sound recordings of my voice, which I have made in conjunction with MIT World or provided to MIT in connection with the production referenced below.

I understand that MIT World <<http://mitworld.mit.edu/>> is a 24/7 on demand video based web site originating at MIT, operated by the School of Engineering's Professional Education Programs. MIT World's purpose is to provide on demand video over the World Wide Web using streaming media.

I further understand that, as long as MIT World is distributed on a no-cost, fee-free basis, I will not receive compensation in any form for my participation in MIT World. In the event MIT elects to distribute MIT World on a revenue-generating basis, I understand that prior to such an event, MIT will contact me to discuss an equitable royalty share based on my contribution, or, at my election, a termination of this Permission.

I confirm that any material furnished by me for the production (music, writing, creative services, images, slides, film, video footage, and all other copyrightable materials) is either my own, or are materials acquired from any third party, I have sufficient rights to enable MIT to use the materials without further consideration, except as specifically provided below.

I further agree to release and forever discharge the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, its agents, employees, and designated representatives, from any and all claims in law or equity that I, my heirs or personal representatives, have or shall have, arising out of MIT's use of the materials as provided in this Permission.

I understand that in addition to my right of termination in the event MIT commences distribution of MIT World on a revenue generating basis, I may withdraw this Permission at any time, with 90 days written notice to:
