

Authorization for Online Access to Data

Harvard University has a legal responsibility to protect the privacy of students and the confidentiality of student information. The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA), as amended, provides students with certain protections concerning the confidentiality of their educational records.

For your convenience, this course, subject to your consent, allows you to view your grades on problem sets, exams, and the final project, but not the grades of any other student. Access to such data will be encrypted and password-protected.

	Please circle one.
May we allow you to view your own grades in the encrypted, password-protected “Grades” area of the course’s website?	YES	NO

In choosing to participate in this class website, you agree to accept all risks related to your use of or participation in the website (including, without limitation, the risk that the website will not be completely secure or free from bugs or malware).

Your signature, in agreement with the above: _____

Your printed name: _____

Today’s date: _____